Thrift

The American Society for Thrift is being organized by a number of big men, having for its object to reform what they term "A Nation of Spendthrifts," by teaching them to save. The Savings Bank has done this for the past twenty-five years, and has thus performed a great service to the community. We cannot impress too strongly the lesson that the money in the Savings Bank is the only fund that you can depend upon in times of trouble without deduction or fluctuation. You may invest in securities and secure larger interest, but when people of moderate means need money they must have it quick, and one cannot sell securities just then except at a loss.

Secure a home for your family. This should be the greatest ambition of every householder. The Savings Bank is the place where you can be helped. Call and talk with us about it.

The Savings Bank employs every dollar under its care for the upbuilding of Richmond; it does not invest or deal in securities.

The Savings Bank has made application to enter the Federal Reserve System—same as National Banks.

COAST LINE TO RUN BILL PRESENTED
RICHMOND SLEEPER FOR WYTHE COUNTY

Will Be Operated From Florence Taxed for Trial of Allen Cases, on No. 82 During Spring and State Is Asked
Trade Week to Pay It.

The Atlantic Coast Line Railroad has granted the request of the Trade Extension Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce to operate a Richmond sleeper on Train No. 82, northbound from Jacksonville, during "Trade Extension Week." This train arrives in Richmond daily at 5:05 o'clock in the morning. Under the present arrangement, passengers for Richmond must get out of their berths about 4:30 o'clock. The train passes through North Carolina and South Carolina in the afternoon and night, and is patronized by merchants coming north by business.

The special Pullman to be placed in commission for the accommodation of "Spring Trade Week" visitors from the South will be picked up at Florence, S. C., at 8:10 o'clock on Saturday. On arriving at the Byrd Street Station the following morning at 5:05 o'clock, will be switched off. Passengers for Richmond can sleep until 7 o'clock.

The car will be operated for the first time on Sunday, March 1, and will run daily during that week. Although this was requested only as a temporary arrangement, it is probable that the Richmond commercial organizations will ask the railway to make the Richmond sleeper a permanent part of No. 82. Some time ago the Coast Line did operate such a car for a short period, but abandoned the arrangement on the grounds that there was not enough travel to justify the expense. Until recently the R. F. & P. operated on this train a special Washington sleeper, which was picked up at Richmond. It was a great convenience to north-bound travelers, who could get aboard and go to sleep at 9 o'clock at night.

Ellyson Tells Why He Objects to Formal Dedication of Confederate Memorial Institute.

ANSWER MADE TO CRITICISM

Public Statement of Conversations Which Led to Differences With Lee Camp Veterans.

Replying to criticism expressed on Friday night before R. E. Lee Camp, No. 1, United Confederate Veterans, Lieutenant-Governor J. Taylor Ellyson, issued a public statement in which he objected to a formal dedication of the Confederate Memorial Institute, or Battle Abbey, are given. Lack of room in the structure itself, or the possible injury to the grounds by a large public gathering, in his opinion, makes it undesirable to have such a demonstration, while, he believes, a personal inspection under favorable conditions would be more satisfactory than a formal dedication under unfavorable circumstances.

Mr. Ellyson also answers other statements made before the camp, among them that he had intimated that the United Confederate Veterans as an organization had nothing to do with the institute, and explains his reference to donations made by President McKinley and members of his Cabinet. An accounting is made every year to the convention, and he said that he hoped that David A. Brown, Jr., had been misquoted in regard to demanding that an inquiry be made as to the management of the affairs of the Confederate Memorial Institute, and that he would be given toward the success of a reunion in this city next year.

Mr. Ellyson's Statement.

The full text of the letter is as follows: "I received a few days ago a letter from Adjutant J. Taylor Ellyson, informing me that R. E. Lee Camp would like to have me present on Friday evening, February 13, to give some information in connection with the Memorial Institute (Battle Abbey). I promptly replied that my absence from the city would compel me to forego the pleasure of being present, but that if he would be kind enough to meet me either at my office or at the Capitol, I would be glad to be informed as to the information desired, and would take pleasure in turning it to the camp through him. Thursday morning I incidentally met Comrade D. A. Brown, Jr., in the rotunda of the Capitol Building and he suggested that I should not be able to be present at the meeting of the camp Friday night.

"Question of Invitation. "There ensued some conversation about extending an invitation from the camp and the city to the United Confederate Veterans to hold their convention in 1915 in Richmond. Comrade Brown suggested that it would be a fine thing to have a great dedication of the building at that time. I told him that personally I was not favorable to a dedication at the time of the reunion, for the reason that the Confederate Memorial Institute did not have any room large enough in which to hold such a meeting, and that to have it there would be a great public gathering of thousands, for it must be remembered that the purpose to make the park a part of the memorial, and to that end, there has been, and will be, expended thousands of dollars to make it the most beautiful park in the city.

"I said to him, however, that if the building should be ready by that time, as we hoped it could be, it would be a fine thing to have it there. I thought a personal inspection under these conditions would be more satisfactory than a formal dedication under unfavorable circumstances. I finally said to him that we could not say with absolute certainty that the building would be ready—that is, that the mural paintings would be completed by that time. I told him that the building should be reached such a stage of development as to make both building and grounds an attractive and beautiful memorial to our Southern cause. I concluded the interview by saying that if R. E. Lee Camp should decide to invite the convention to Richmond next year, that I would be happy to personally meet them, and to co-operate in any way in my power to make the sojourn of our visitors both pleasant and profitable.

"Glad to See Committee. "I have had a long communication from R. E. Lee Camp, though I am informed that a committee has been appointed to wait on me. I should feel, therefore, that it is unnecessary to say anything further at this time, but I, of course, will be glad to see the committee and consult with them about any matters relating to the interests of the Confederate Memorial Institute or R. E. Lee Camp.

"Comrade Brown is quoted as saying that he would, at the Jacksonville reunion in May, demand that an inquiry be made as to the management of the affairs of the Confederate Memorial Institute. I hope in this respect he has been misquoted, for he will doubtless recall that a full and detailed statement of all receipts and disbursements is made to the convention every year by our treasurer, Hon. George L. Christian, and in the reports of the executive committee and of the president there is added full information as to the nature and progress of our work in those reports will be found any information he or any other member of the convention might desire to have.

"Allusion to McKinley. "The allusion to the contributions of President McKinley and his Cabinet made by me was in answer to the suggestion of Comrade Brown that the Confederate veterans and camps had made large contributions to the funds raised for this memorial building. I simply stated that I regretted the contributions from the veterans in the South generally had not been large, and, as an illustration, added that President McKinley and his Cabinet made a contribution as large or larger than had been received by us from some of the Southern States.

"I may add that I am always glad to give the camp any information in regard to our work in behalf of the Memorial Institute, and they have more than once heartily thanked me for doing so, and on the last occasion, when I appeared before the camp for this purpose, they did me the honor to give me a unanimous and rising vote for what they were pleased to term a full and complete statement concerning the work of the institute."

Turkish Ambassador Repudiates Claims of Persons Asking Money for Syrians.

On the instructions of Governor Stuart, Secretary of the Board of Police, issued a warning to the public against several Syrians, who represent themselves to be the agents of Turkish educational organizations, and who are soliciting funds for the building of schools in Asia Minor. The Syrians called on Governor Stuart several days ago to obtain his indorsement of their public petitions.

Before giving it, the Governor got into communication with the Turkish embassy in Washington. He received a reply yesterday from Ambassador Youssouf Za Fushan, repudiating the claims of the Syrians. "The Imperial Ottoman Empire in no way recognizes the persons mentioned in your Excellency's authorized agents," said the ambassador. The ambassador went on to say in his reply that the Syrians in question have operated in many of the large cities of the United States. No direct communication has been made against them by the ambassador, but he makes it plain that they are not the accredited representatives of the Turkish government. They have made a practice of obtaining indorsement of their credentials by the Mayors of cities in which they have worked and by the Governors of as many States as possible.

The Syrians have not begun to operate to any extent in Richmond. They will, no doubt, begin a house-to-house campaign for money to erect schools and churches in Asia Minor.

There were about fifty present.

ASKS POLICE TO FIND HIS SISTER

The police last night were asked to look for Miss Nell Spradlin, twenty-two years old, who left the home of her parents in Bedford City on Tuesday to come to Richmond, but failed to arrive. Report of her strange absence was made by her brother, A. L. Spradlin, of 105 West Marshall Street, who told Captain of Detectives McMahon that she was coming to visit him.

Mr. Spradlin said that he met the Norfolk and Western train on which she was scheduled to arrive, and when she did not appear, he said, he met every train which reached the Byrd Street Station from Lynchburg with the hope that she had been unavoidably detained and would turn up.

The brother learned that Miss Spradlin had stopped over in Lynchburg and had her trunk checked from that point to Richmond. It was found by detectives in the baggage room of the station, having arrived on Wednesday. No one had claimed it, and the agent was instructed to notify the police if any one called for it.

Mr. Spradlin said he was at a loss to know what had happened to his sister. He said that he knew of no reason why she would have voluntarily disappeared. He said that he had been in Lynchburg more than a few hours in Lynchburg.

CITIZENS ENTER
STRONG PROTEST

Broad, Main and Other Streets Filled With Slush, and No City Carts in Sight.

MAY APPEAL TO BOARD

Four Owners Reported, While Nobody Could Cross Streets at Important Corners.

While the police were busy yesterday and last night reporting tenants and property owners for failing to clean snow from sidewalks in violation of the city ordinance, apparently no effort was made by the Street Cleaning Department to remove the mass of slush, which filled all thoroughfares as a result of the heavy snow fall on Friday. It was especially noticeable in Broad and Main Streets, where ice, snow, water and mud made it almost impassable for man and beast. Crossings for pedestrians at corners were not cleared, and the result was that every one had to wade through slush and ice, which was ankle deep.

Because of the inactivity in ridding the thoroughfares of this accumulation of slush, it was said last night that the matter will be taken up with the Administrative Board tomorrow to see why the Street Cleaning Department did not do more to relieve the city.

Attention was called to the fact that while the police were reporting citizens, who will be summoned in court for failing to clean sidewalks in front of their property, the city itself made no effort to make the roadways even halfway passable.

The city ordinance on this subject provides that "The tenant, occupant, and, in case there shall be no tenant, the owner or any person having the charge of any building or lot of land bordering on any street, lane, court, square or public place within the city, where there is any paved footway or sidewalk, shall, after the ceasing to fall of any snow, if in the daytime, within six hours, and if in the nighttime, before noon the following day, cause the same to be removed therefrom; and in default thereof, shall forfeit and pay a sum not less than $2 nor more than $10, and for each and every hour thereafter that the snow shall remain on such footway or sidewalk, such party so in default shall forfeit and pay not less than $1 nor more than $10."

Chief of Police Werner lost no time in issuing orders to all members of his department to insist that owners and occupants comply with the law. Where no heed was paid reports were made and Police Court summonses will be issued for the violators.

Last night only four reports of this violation were made, but it is expected that there will be a great many before tomorrow morning. Those reported last night were Green & Reed, for not clearing the walk in front of 1210 East Main Street; Chapin & Hume, 1007 E. 1009 East Main Street, and H. Selden Taylor, 1217 East Main Street. Each of these reports was made by Patrolman J. H. Harris. Street conditions are expected to be no better to-day, as there will be no clearing. The snow was frozen last night, and when it begins to thaw it will be almost impossible to cross from one sidewalk to another. Citizens joined in the complaint and inquired why the city was not clearing, and especially the city's duty in the matter of clearing the crossings.

PAGES OPPOSE
WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Believe All Needed Reforms Can Be Secured by Men Without Competition.

The "House of Pages" has decided against woman suffrage. At a meeting yesterday afternoon in the hall of the House of Delegates the subject was discussed in detail. Most of the pages attended the hearing before the House Committee on Privileges and Elections, and from their action appear to have been more impressed by the remarks of Delegates Love, of Lunenburg, than by the eloquent appeals of the advocates of suffrage.

The following resolution offered by Thomas Morgan, of Charlotte and adopted unanimously: "Whereas, the militant members of the Equal Suffrage League of Virginia intend to do all the talking themselves, and

Whereas, the remarks of a brave and lovely gentleman on behalf of mere men were not permitted to be heard in a quiet, manly manner on account of tittering and laughter, and

Whereas, no arguments were adduced for reforms that cannot be granted by men, therefore, be it

Resolved, that further feminine noise be dispelled."

The final blow came when the suggestion was made by a member of the House that with equal suffrage at least half of the pages would be girls. Delegates Toney and A. G. Weaver are the favorite marks of the House of Pages. Resolutions offered by Pages Nelson and Morgan were adopted rejecting those Delegates to take the pages on automobile rides to Petersburg at their earliest convenience.

A special caucus of the "House of Pages" will be held tomorrow afternoon to select a journal clerk in place of Arnold Barnes, of South Boston, who has resigned. Delegate Pennington, of Lee County, has secured the appointment of G. B. Sewell, of Lee County, for the remainder of the term. Resolutions of regret were adopted over the departure of Page Barnes, who has been popular with members of the House of Delegates and "House of Pages" as well.

STABBED BY NEGRO

One of Four Injured Had Wound in Side

Frank W. Wilkerson, of 319 North Twenty-fourth Street, was badly stabbed in the left side early last night by one of four negroes who were passing through Main Street, between Twelfth and Twenty-first. All of the negroes ran after the cutting, and had not been caught by late hour last night.

With a companion, James Thurston Wilkerson said that he was on his way home, when he was stopped by the negroes and one of them accused him of having kicked his dog. Wilkerson said he did not even see a dog. A quarrel began, when the negro struck Wilkerson in the face and another drew a sawed-off shotgun and fired at him.

Wilkerson was assisted to the First Police Station and there was rendered emergency treatment by Dr. A. I. Weinstein, City Hospital ambulance surgeon, and was removed to his home.

MANN PARDONED
COLONEL PLATTER

Fact That He Was Released on January 29 Not Made Public at Capitol.

It became known yesterday that "Colonel" R. C. Platter, of Texas, who was sentenced to serve one year in the State Penitentiary for defrauding Colonel John Landstreet of $200, was pardoned on January 29 by Governor Mann, just before he retired from office. Platter was convicted on January 27 in the Hustings Court of Richmond, and had served a one-day term. No announcement of the granting of the pardon was made at the Governor's office.

"Colonel" Platter fled Colonel Landstreet in the spring of 1913, persuading him to advance $200 on a draft, which turned out to be worthless. Then he went to New York.

A few days after his escape in Platter fled from the hands of the New York police, who were looking for him in connection with another bad check transaction in that city. He was convicted and sent up for two years. With good behavior, his term was shortened by several months. News of his conviction, however, was sent here, and the local Police Department had a representative on hand to arrest him when he left prison.

The petition for pardon, which was presented by H. M. Smith, Jr., contained recommendations for favorable action from Judge D. C. Richardson and C. A. Monweh's Attorney Folkes. Platter served several months in jail pending his trial on the charge of defrauding Colonel Landstreet. He has gone to Pittsburgh.

FOUR DIE IN STATE
FROM HYDROPHOBIA

Rabid Dogs Attack Hundreds of Persons in Virginia in Short Period.

In support of the Walker bill for the restraint of dogs, State Bacteriologist Ferguson has collected a mass of data on rabies and mad dogs in Virginia. Since the establishment of a State Pasture institute three years ago a total of 315 persons have been treated by Dr. Ferguson with the anti-rabies rabies and mad dogs in Virginia. In addition, thirty-five were treated at a private institute in Richmond. There were four deaths from hydrophobia in Virginia last year. A single death occurred among the mad dog victims treated by the State Board of Health. In addition, thirty-five persons treated at the Health Department about twenty would have died a horrible death but for the help given opportunist.

Dr. Ferguson and the State Board of Health strongly advocate the passage of the proposed bill for the regulation and restraint of dogs.
